AGAINST FREE COINAGE OF SILVER DOLLARS.

Decided Ground Taken by the Chamber of Commerce in Favor of the Gold Standard.

NEW BOND SCHEME APPROVED.

Pending Financial Legislation in Congress Discussed by Eminent Merchants and Bankers.

The special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday to consider the financial legislation now ending in Congress brought together a large attendance of the most prominent merchants, bankers and men of business in New York. President Charles S. Smith presided over the discussion, which was interesting and at times spirited, and which ended, as will be seen, in the Chamber placing itself on record as decidedly against the free coinage of ailver. The question came up in the shape of two reports from the Committee on Finance as to the financial measures now before Congress. The majority report-against silver coinage-was signed by George S. Coe, John Jay Knox and John Harsen Rhoades, and a dissenting report was handed in by William S. St. John. Chairman Coe read the majority report, which first took up Secretary Windom's scheme for two per cent interconvertible thirty-year bonds, concerning which the report said :-

minority report of one defending the plan, and in a long and vigorous speech insisted that as some sort of silver legislation is bound to come we ought to be glad to have a compromise which the silver men will accept.

John Jay Knox, S. Foater Higgins, Henry Hentz, J. Harsen Rhoades, A. E. Orr and others discussed the two reports, the prevailing sentiment seeming to be against silver colonage. Aft. Knox read a long and elaborate paper in favor of gold mono-metallism, and was applauded when he said it would be a blessing for the country if Congress would not discuss finances at all. Mr. Orr introduced a series of resolutions, the first of which indorsed Secretary Windom's bond scheme, and declared that the United States differs from all other countries in the extent of its farm producing territory and in the fact that its surplus farm products are moved with money paid into the hands of the producers at the times they part with its possession.

The value of the surplus products may be roughly estimated as follows:—Cotton, $350,000,000; wheat, $350,000,000; corn, $200,000,000; casts and other small grain, $220,000,000; casts and other small grain, $220,000,000; catte and hogs, $300,000,000; total, $1,710,000,000.

The new bond scheme was approved of because, as the resolutions said:—

The removals of these products are not averaged throughout they sext, but are confined largely to the au-

as the resolutions said:

The removals of these products are not averaged throughout the year, but are confined largely to the autumn and early winter months, when commerce and business industries of all kinds are most active, thereby causing great annual strain at the money centres for entroncy and a normal condition of stringency; and The money so withdrawn is returned to the money centres in the early sorting and summer of each year, causing a normal condition of picthora which too often for tera illegitimate specialion.

These two distinct and antagonistic phases of the monestary conditions of the United States are the result of the near-staticity of our brancial system and are injurious alike to the morchant, the banker, the manufacturer and the agriculturies, and especially to the latter, whose rapid marketing of his products is largely responsible for the stringency.

Mr. Orr also introduced two others are the contractions and the surroduced two whose rapid merketing of his products is largely rasponsible for the stringsney.

Mr. Orr also introduced two other resolutions, the first condemning even more emphatically than the majority report the free coinage of silver, and the second suggesting, if free coinage must come, to limit it to $50,000,000.

When the various questions came to be voted on Mr. Orr's first resolution, favoring the interconvertible bonds, was defeated. His second resolution was adopted, and the third was laid on the table. Mr. St. John's minority report was next voted upon and defeated by a decided majority. Then the majority report of the committee was adopted by an equally decided vote.

Jersey City on the night of July 2 and came to New York in search of amusement. Mr. Steele wore a $2500 diamond pin in his shirt bosom and had $15 in cash in his pocket.

Mr. Steele stepped into the Waverly saloon, on Eighth avonue, between Twenty-nighth and Twenty-ninth streets, and had a drink. His diamond attracted some attention and when he left the place he was followed by a big, brawny chap, who caught up with him on Twenty-ninth street and kno-ked him down.

Steele fell to the ground unconscious, and when he came to his souses he was lying in a hospital suffering with a broken nose and was minus his diamond pin and $15. Steele's assailant had cut away the bosom of his shirt in order to get the diamond.

WANTS TO RECOVER HER CHILD.

Justice Miles Beach, in the Supreme Court yes. terday, decided the habeas corpus case of Mrs. Driesens to recover her three-year-old son, against the mother and in favor of Mrs. Edward Wilson, wife of an "L" road engineer, who has had the Twenty-seventh street, near Eighth avenue, cared for the child until a year, ago, when he married and his bride refused to have the child in the house. It was accordingly placed on Randall's Island. Mrs. Wilson, who lives at No. 316 East 130th street, took the child from the Island and has since cared for it. The child is a sickly, delicate little thing and Dr. Tuttle testified that it would be short lived.

The mother was married last September in Brooklyn to Henry Driesons, a Harlem carpetiter. Since her marriage she has been trying to get possession of the child.

The case has been argued three times, once before Judge-Ingraham, who decided in favor of Mrs. Wilson; then before Judge Beach. The case will be appealed.

ACTIVE WORK IN REALTY.

PUBLIC AND PRIVATE SALES OF WELL LOCATED CITY PROPERTY EFFECTED YESTERDAY.

The attendance on the Real Estate Exchange vesterday was unusually large for a Monday, when the market generally is experimental for the en-suing week. Brokers, speculators and dealers had a very busy time of it perfecting their deals. Only very few offerings were made from the auctioneers'

At private contract Broker Charles Buerman sold for John E. Peter, No. 2,097 Second avenue, a four story apartment house on lot 25270x100, to Henry Hickman for $17,300.

A partition sale by order of the Supreme Court was held by R. J. Harnett & Co. It involved No. 49 Essex street, a five story tenement on lot 25x87.6, between Grand and Hester streets. The first bid for this property was $30,000, but Auctioneer Harnett soon increased his bid, and the premises were sold to Alexander Goldberg for $37,050. Adolph L. Sauger was the guardian ad litem for infant defendants in this partition sale.

Under decree of foreclosure William Kennelly sold No. 302 Stanton street, northwest corner of Lewis street (one-quarter part) to William Chester at $3,425. It is a tenement on lot 25x58, with ample stores underneath.

Mr. Hornbostel is a well known room trader and a daring speculator on his own account. A month ago he was probably the biggest and most active room trader on the Stock Exchange.

It will be seen from the stocks closed out for him he was heavily short. He said resterday that he would not appoint an assignee, and that while he could not say what his liabilities and assets were he expected to resume business again.

His statement on March I last claimed assets $39.600, consisting of stock $31.848; cash, $2.812, and bonds, $5,000. Labilities, $0,000. The came, of the assignment, Mr. Mackeon said, was the excessive rent he had to pay for the two buildings occupied by him, which was $20,000 a year. He had endeavored to get a reduction, but did not succeed, and he was advised to make the assignment to protect all his creditors.
